Feast of taste and excitement!

Run by the 'Amorepacific', a leading tea producer in Korea, this tea plantation stretches in land area of 33.3ha. The landscape of the broad tea plantation at the foot of Wolchulsan Mountain creates a grand spectacle. The tea plantation on smooth curves and greenery exquisitely harmonizes with rocks standing above Wolchulsan Mountain.

Wolchulsan Mountain

Picking the First Leaves

Wolchulsan Mountain, with a folding screen of large rocks, has an exquisite mountain terrain and tea plants have been cultivated near temples in the mountain from long ago. Dasan Jeong Yak-yong once praised the tea from Wolchulsan Mountain as the second best in the whole country. Visitors can also join the exclusive class of picking green tea leaves by indulging in the subtle aroma of tea.
